COMMUNITY FAIR OPENS TOMORROW

Horse Show New Item
Added This Year.
Chicken Dinner

PRIZES AND PREMIUMS GIVEN

The fair spirit started brooding over the Jeffersonian School campus early this week, as exhibitions representing various business and industrial interests began driving down stakes along the midway. The fair will be held Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 28 and 29.

Concerning from every angle of rural and industrial activity, farmers, merchants, poultrymen, housewives, horsemen are comprising the exhibits which will be on stage for the community agricultural fair, which opens Friday, Aug. 28.

The amateur Community Fair catalogues for the twelfth annual Community Fair at Jeffersontown came out yesterday, and are now available at the fair grounds.

This publication is not only attractive itself, but contains premium offerings which will be given to effort on the part of the exhibitors and which no doubt in spite of the details in the catalogues will be specimens that will be a surprise to all and prove that "fair" may yet be available for the Fair.

As announced before, an additional feature of a horse show this year will be the addition of a new and much interest to lovers of the ring under the management of Messrs. J. W. Howerton and Kent Miller, prove to all that the fair will be a success as an interesting part of the year.

Also in order that the public no longer be kept in doubt on this point—that good old fashioned dinner of the cook-off will be made by the chefs of the local P. T. A. A. feature in the past, will again be in evidence this year, when on Saturday evening it may be seen in the dining room and here the cooking and "concocting" efforts of the entire two-day event.

A poultry show is also listed among the exhibits and premiums are some specialties. This is under the management of O. H. Hunter and his fair will be held Saturday morning on the grounds.

According to the fair management, the hours will be 2 and 8:30 p.m. on Friday with the exception of perishables that may be brought on Saturday morning and a usual time.

Business exhibits in the field of trade will be the property of the fair and will be sold public auction on Saturday last.

Yes, its hot and dry "and how," but even so should the weather moderate, the fair will be a great hot time in the old town then, nevertheless.

THE EXHIBITORS

The Haasman Motor Company will show Diamond T trucks at the Fair. Ben Haasman, who will be on the grounds, will invite visitors to his firm's booth.

B. & V. Army & Supply Company of Louisville will have a display of play of farms implements at the fair, according to W. J. Burke, local representative.

Other exhibitors at the Fair include Hokin's Fertilizer Company; Floyd Miller and Checkered Feed Company; the Kentucky Motor Company, Chevrolet cars and trucks; Taylor Feed & Grain Company and associated Ballad feed dealers.

BANK MANAGER REPORTS

W. G. Brooks, manager of the Jeffersontown Bank, has returned from a brief vacation trip. Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, who live in Louisville, making a loop through the Cumberland mountains.

W. Ross, cashier of the Bank of Middletown, was in charge of the Bank during Mr. Brooks' absence.

FARM RECRUITS

12,000 Farm Youths Of
Age This Year; May Buy Farms.

Louisville, Ky., August 22.—The ranks of Kentucky agriculture have got nearly 12,000 new recruits this year. That many Kentucky farm boys will reach 21 years of age by December 1, President of The Federal Land Bank of Louisville said here today, in commenting on the importance of young farmers in financing the additional problem of farm ownership for the thousands of farm boys who come of age every year.

The Bank Credit Act of 1935 raised the amount loanable for farm buying from about $50 to $75 thousand dollars per acre, the president said. This means that many farmers, including young men and their parents, who have experience in farming, may buy a farm after paying down payment may buy a farm."

Calling attention to 1935 Farm Census figures, Rice said that 11,684 Kentucky farm boys between the ages of 21 years old this year. Several thousand between the ages of 16 and 21 will leave the farm during the next few years.

Even older tenant farmers can work their way out of tenancy, he believes, by means of long-term mortgage loans available at 4 to 5 percent interest a year.

Tenancy in Kentucky increased somewhat during the depression, although still below the average for the country's agriculture.

The 1935 census shows that 27.1 per cent of all Kentucky farms are operated by tenants, compared to 35.9 per cent in 1930 and 32 per cent in 1933. Presently, however, for the nation is 42 per cent.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Russian Conspirators Against Stalin Plead Guilty—Italy and France Sparring Over Spain—Russia's Drought Primes for Drought Area Tour.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Western Newspaper Union.

SIXTEEN men, arraigned in Moscow on charges of plotting the谋杀 of Stalin and the seizure of power in the Soviet Republic, calmly pleaded guilty yesterday before Gregory Zinov'ev and Ley Kamenev, who were members with Stalin of the triumvirate that governed Russia and were well known as the culprits of the world. The confessions did not end with the trial, for the defendants admitted they had lied and accused one another, until the case was in a jumble. Some of them, like Zinov'ev, proudly accepted responsibility for the plot, while others said it had been masterminded by the exiled Leon Trotsky. It was believed all sixteen would face the firing squad.

Twelve men and one woman, the government announced, were held for examination and probable trial. Some of these were known as confederates of the sixteen conspirators.

In the case or trial the defendants revealed the fact that not only were they plotting the murder of Stalin and four others, but planned also to betray Trotsky and place Zinov'ev and Kamenev in supreme power.

Trotsky, at Homenes, Norway, scoffed at the Moscow proceedings as "humbug." For political vengeance," he said, "the Spanish scandal and the Reichstag fire in the shadow. The confessions were forced by the OGPU (secret police), which gave the accused a choice between execution according to the GPU's desire and taking lesser penalties or death."

PROMINENT MUSSOLINI, insisting that neutrality in the Spanish war must mean absolute non-intervention, suddenly and merrily opened sides to them. France would have to abandon her neutral position and help the socialists.

For days France had alarmed the statement of Europe, but now it was stated in both Rome and Paris that negotiations for the neutrality of Spain were going satisfactorily with prospect for a satisfactory agreement that would include both Italy and Germany. When the Italian fleet came in, however, still in doubt, Mussolini was further provoked against the Spanish rebels.

N EITHER Fascism nor Communism will be tolerated in Czechoslovakia, which is a firm, indestructible lighthouse of democracy and President Edward Benes made this speech at Reichenberg. But he told the press why he was addressing particularly, that he hoped that in the fall "the whole world will be able to work out a plan for general European co-operation and that . . . Benes

President Benes' words will be established between Germany and Czechoslovakia.

Lenders of German money in Czechoslovakia are underemployed in their part of the country greater than anywhere else in Czechoslovakia; unemployed persons, according to the Central Statistical Bureau, were 38 per cent.

They charge that this is partly the result of the government's failure to take orders in German business factories and failing to give state jobs to members of the German minority.

D DISPATCHES from the French Foreign Ministry said that Spanish warships had been held in port by the long threatened bombardment of San Sebastian and Irun, and that the loyalists were carrying out the threatened execution of the 1,000 Fascist hostages being held there. The battlehip Espana fired a broadside at the rebels town of Port Guadaloupe but for a time at least was apparently not trying to capture it. Virgilio Cabanillas, strong because many of their sympathizers were held prisoners in the fort. The Guadaloupe garrison was held in port by the long fire for fear that shells would fall on French territory. Already the French government was angered by the bombing of boats in French border towns, though it was not determined whether they came from loyalist or rebel planes.

The rebels captured the important town of Badajoz, near the Portuguese border, at the point of the bayonet, and were reported to have exacted heavy government taxes taken there. The rebels also reported a victory near Zaragoza after a bloody battle. General Francisco Franco, Mola and "President" Virgilio Cabanillas at the northern headquarters in Burgos and planned for further advances of the northern and north-central command of Madrid.

CATALONIA, which for years has been an autonomous region within the Spanish state, and which there is enough wheat in the United States for the usual domestic requirements of the season of 1938-39, according to the mid-summer report of the bureau of agricultural economics. The importation of red spring wheat and durum is short and consequently importation of red winter wheat is small. The amount, however, will not be large, Secretary Wallace stated.

"It is probable the spring wheat in the 1938-39 season will use up the winter and Pacific Northwest wheat than last year," said the report.

A larger than usual quantity of soft wheat will also likely be used in bread flour. As a result, imports of milling wheat may be less than in 1937.

At present the United States may be expected to average about 800 million bushels a year.

The generalization of government control of all private property, and then, "to eliminate dual control and place all responsibility in one place," all magnates, judges and lawyers said, were the duties of a triumvirate that governed Russia and are well known as the culprits of the world.

The confessions did not end with the trial, for the defendants admitted they had lied and accused one another, until the case was in a jumble. Some of them, like Zinov'ev, proudly accepted responsibility for the plot, while others said it had been masterminded by the exiled Leon Trotsky. Twelve men and one woman, the government announced, were held for examination and probable trial. Some of these were known as confederates of the sixteen conspirators.

In the case or trial the defendants revealed the fact that not only were they plotting the murder of Stalin and four others, but planned also to betray Trotsky and place Zinov'ev and Kamenev in supreme power.

Trotsky, at Homenes, Norway, scoffed at the Moscow proceedings as "humbug." For political vengeance," he said, "the Spanish scandal and the Reichstag fire in the shadow. The confessions were forced by the OGPU (secret police), which gave the accused a choice between execution according to the GPU's desire and taking lesser penalties or death."

PREPARED FOR Roosevelt was at his best as a radio speaker, he addressed the camp at Chautauqua, N. Y., on foreign relations. He expressed his deep concern about tendencies of the world and spoke briefly about the violation of labor rights of the international agreements, "without regard to the simple principles of honor."

"Our closest neighbors and neighbors in the world," Roosevelt said. "If there are remoter nations that wish us no bad ill, then they know that we are strong, that we are determined to defend our friends and our neighborhood."

Roosevelt said he had seen war on land and sea.

"I have seen blood running from the wounded," he said. "I have seen men coughing out their gassed lungs. I have seen the dead in the mud. I have seen the dead in the water. I have seen 200 limping, exhausted men come out of the line—the survivors of a regiment of 1,000 who went into battle. I have seen children who have seen the agonies of mothers and wives. I hate war!"

Roosevelt's speech was aimed at him and reflected his personal experiences.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hopkins, who was selected to accompany Mr. Roosevelt on the tour, Mr. Hopkins told the press that the 60,000 persons already are on the WPA payroll and the number eventually will be 130,000 to 150,000, the real work beginning during the month of September. At this time the cost per man is about $50 a month.

Additional appropriations by the next congress will be necessary, he said, to care for the work placed upon his organization by the drouth crisis. The amount of new money necessary has not been determined.

Estimates of the amount of money deemed necessary to meet the situation in the "dust bowl" were made by the head of the WPA, the representative of the Treasury Department and Acting Budget Director Daniel Bell.
